Our nearest tube station is Clapham Common [Northern Line]. And hopping on a train from Victoria tube/rail station to Battersea Park; or Waterloo tube/rail station to Queenstown Road, is easy and fast - trains every 5 to 7 minutes. Or you can jump on a bus from Sloane Square tube station. Click here to view the Tube map

Oyster weekly/monthly/annual travel cards are valid at Battersea Park [zone 2] and Queenstown Road [zone 2] National Rail stations. Oyster PAYG is not valid [until late 2009] - so simply purchase a rail ticket, or a daily travel card.

We have excellent local National Rail connections: Queenstown Road; Battersea Park and Clapham Junction.

Battersea Park is one stop from Victoria Station and one stop from Clapham Junction. Typically, trains leave from the right side of Victoria station, platforms 8-12; and leave from Clapham Junction platform 14.

Queenstown Road is two stops from Waterloo, one stop from Clapham Junction, and one stop from Vauxhall. Typically, trains leave Waterloo platforms 15-19; and Clapham Junction platforms 3 & 4.

Local bus services are numbers: 137 . 156 . 452 [bus stops at junction of Queenstown Road and Silverthorne Road], and 44 . 344 [bus stops around junction of Battersea Park Road and Queenstown Road]. Click here to view the Battersea Park area bus map
